

Wireless providers are forcing consumers to buy network specific phones. I just bought a $150 phone through Verizon and now want to switch services because of poor quality. In order to switch service i now have to buy another phone. Cell phone manufactures put a special chip in the phone to make it work on one service provider. This is a monopoly in the making !!!